

ASIA 304

HUMAN MOBILITY IN THE ASIA-PACIFIC

ONLINE ONLY!

TTh
9:25 - 10:40 am

Ka-Kin Cheuk

Annette and Hugh Gragg Postdoctoral Fellow in Transnational Asian Studies | ka-kin.cheuk@rice.edu

With more than half of the world's population now living and moving around in the Asia Pacific...

- Will China, which is becoming an aging society, eventually become an immigrant country?
- Can more emigration help India, an emerging economy, to cope with the population explosion?
- Will environmental changes in Asia trigger a new refugee crisis?
- While becoming increasingly mobile and globally connected, can Asians bring revolutionary changes to humankind?
- What are the impacts of the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic on global mobilities?

This course introduces students to a wide range of analytical perspectives to explore the ongoing process of globalization, migration and transnational mobility in the "Asian Century." It is designed for students in a variety of disciplines and does not assume prior knowledge or research.

Open to all majors/ no prerequisite