

RICE HUMANITIES

Department of Transnational Asian Studies

Fall 2022

ASIA 236

BUDDHISM AND SCIENCE

Distribution I

NEW COURSE!

WF
2:00 - 3:15 PM

Eric Huntington

T.T. & W.F. Chao Assistant Professor of Transnational Asian Studies | huntington@rice.edu

Modern science has found many connections to ancient Buddhist traditions, but Buddhism has always portrayed itself as rational and explanatory, developing cosmology, biology, and physics in concert with meditation, ritual, and art. This course explores connections between Buddhism and science from their earliest beginnings up to the present day.

Approved for the RELI major and minor