

FWIS 177

Storytelling in Buddhism

TTh | 1:00 - 2:15 PM | Eric Huntington

This course explores the forms and contexts of storytelling in Buddhism, with a broad eye toward literature, visual arts, and performance. Students engage in both creative and academic writing to understand the importance of narrative in Buddhist cultures and different approaches to writing in the modern day.

RICE HUMANITIES AND ARTS

Department of Transnational Asian Studies

MORE INFO